

(back)On the rails

This challenge is also related to the storyline. Regardless of the details, we have a blurry picture of what seems to be an abandoned railway station. We need to find the name of the station.

After searching the picture through Google Lens, no significant result was obtained. From the previous challenge (Apartment Views), we know the storyline is related to Melbourne. Therefore, we can try looking for an “abandoned railway station in Melbourne”. From there, a very similar looking station was found, with the bridge and graffiti on the side building.

Therefore, we can try it as the flag, which turned out to be correct.

DUCTF{General_Motors}